Reno is located on the Truckee river, in a level basin completely surrounded by mountains, save a small cañon through which the river and C. P. railroad finds an outlet. As yet it is a young town, being only ten or eleven years of age, yet its growth has been rapid, particularly during the last year or two, since the people have begun to recognize its permanent and substantial prosperity. The name "Reno" is from Gen. Reno, who was killed in battle at South Mountain. The county seat of Washoe County since 1871, it occupies the foremost place among the towns in the county. Its altitude is 4,525 feet above the sea, and it is 154 miles by rail from Sacramento. In 1871 it numbered about 1,000 inhabitants. Its last census taken from the Assessor's books last Fall, give it a population of 1,912, about half the number of people in the county (3,944). Reno suffered a severe back-set October 29th, 1873, by a fire, which destroyed about $100,000 worth of property, laying in ashes the principal business portion of the town. Not disheartened the people went to work with a vim and soon replaced the destroyed buildings by more substantial and safe structures. The town is nicely and regularly laid out, with wide straight streets. Its people are ambitious and enterprising; having faith in the permanency and future growth of the town they do not hesitate to invest their money in real estate, so much so that the price of land in the immediate vicinity has doubled and in some places quadrupled in value in the last two or three years. Many invest their money in land as a speculation, looking for a sure and profitable return. Nor will they be disappointed. Building has been so rapid during the past year that it has been an impossibility to nearly supply the demand for brick and lumber. So much has this scarcity been felt that many have put off building until they could get the needed material readily. Buildings, both brick and frame, are springing up at every hand. Gardens are being laid out and shade trees planted everywhere, to the beautifying of the whole town. A walk in the side streets of Reno will reveal many cozy little homes, which are neat and tasteful. Until a few months ago the town was without protection from fire save such as the yard engine of the C. P. R. R. could offer. The citizens subscribed money very liberally when called upon, and now have a steamer, hand engine and hook and ladder truck, which is manned by a company of energetic workers, who will subdue almost any fire which can get a start. The winds which blow considerably here, make this protection, powerful as it may seem, very requisite. An illustration of this may be seen in the fire which happened recently in the Western Addition, by which six private residences, valued at $250,000, were destroyed. But for adequate protection the flames were blown from house to house until the street stopped its further progress. Its five churches speak well for Reno's morals, while its saloons do not. Its educational interests are well looked after, and a fine building is erected for the purpose. Its commercial importance may be realized when the fact is known that it is the junction of two railroads, and the shipping point for a very large and important backwood and agricultural country, extending to the Oregon line. The three freight houses are constantly crowded with freight, while it is being shipped away as rapidly as possible all the time. A public library has been recently started, and although but six months old, it now has a membership of 200, several hundred volumes in its library and files of all the leading papers on its tables. Since the discovery that sagebrush land was eminently adapted to the culture of alfalfa, it has been reclaimed by the hundred of acres. Farms and ranches are being located in every direction. After the land is cleared, three and four crops a year can be cut. Potatoes of good size and delicious flavor is raised here. An active demand is made for them in all the markets where they have been introduced. Mining has become a very important industry, adding to the wealth and prosperity of the town. Peavine, situated eight miles as the crow flies, north of us, has attracted considerable attention for the past two years. The Con. Poe, Golden Fleece, Cleopatra, Brooklyn and other mines are destined to be valuable. South of us near Steamboat, cinnabar and sulphur mines of richness have recently been discovered, while we hear of tin, lead and coal being found on all sides—thus making Reno the center of a large and promising mining region. Its water power is unexcelled. The beautiful Truckee flows through the town, bringing to our doors good drinking water and enough to run all the machinery in the State. The fall is so great that a ditch run but a short distance will give a sufficient fall to run any machinery. Trout is caught in abundance in the stream. This fish enjoys a wide reputation for toothsome. The Nevada State Fair is held in Reno every Fall. A fine fair ground, with commodious buildings and good track, is situated a short distance south of town. This is a very valuable addition to the town. A Board of Trade was organized Jan. 1, 1876, which holds regular meetings every Monday night. It is doing a good work. The State Prison is now in process of erection about a mile and a half east of town. The Episcopal Church will erect a Female Seminary here during the Summer and efforts are being made to secure the location of the Methodist Seminary too. The climate is healthy and bracing, the atmosphere clear and pure. The future of Reno is very promising indeed. It is looked upon as the rising town of Nevada. The public spiritness of its people, together with its favorable locality, its convenience to any point east or west, its light taxation, its sociability, its water power, and its agricultural and mining advantages, makes it look as if it would be a large city in spite of itself. The basin it is situated in will hold a city like New York, but while we never hope to press its limits we can reasonably expect to see it the seat of a large and perhaps, next to Virginia City, the most important city in the sagebrush, zephyry State. Reno is without doubt the town to locate in.

The forests of Europe are estimated as being 500,000,000 acres in extent or about twenty per cent. of the whole area of the Continent. In North America it is reckoned that 1,460,000,000 acres are covered by trees, of which area 900,000,000 are British North America. In South America forests occupy 700,000,000 acres. The total amount of the two continents of the New World and Europe gives 3,600,000,000 acres. The proportion of forest land to the whole area of Europe, as above stated, is computed at twenty per cent.; in America twenty-one per cent.

WILLIAM ARCHISON, of Douglas county, Colorado, in speaking of his Newfoundland dog, the other night, gave the word a pronunciation from which John P. Davis assented. Archison refused to conform to Davis' views, and the latter very properly shot him, inflicting a fatal wound. Correct pronunciation must and shall be preserved.

The remarkable scientific fact is announced that an iron ball at white heat refuses to receive a charge of electricity; when cooled down to red heat it will receive a negative charge; at a dull red heat it will receive a positive charge; and when farther cooled down it will accept both kinds.

Bowen was kicked out of Plymouth Church by a unanimous vote of Beecher's Committee. The question now arises, does that settle it? How about Tilton, Moulton, Vic. Wood-bull and those other fellows?

Lincoln's Assassination.

A Washington letter says: An interesting incident, which foreshadowed the tragic fate of President Lincoln, but which has never before found its way into print, is vouched for by a number of persons, still in Washington, and who were witnesses of it. On the day when Lincoln was inaugurated the second time, in 1865, and just as he had passed from the rotunda of the capitol to the platform at the east portico, where his inaugural was to be delivered, a man, who was recognized by several persons to be John Wilkes Booth, pushed hurriedly through the passage leading from the Senate chamber to the rotunda and in an excited and determined manner broke through the line of policemen which kept the crowd back from the procession, and made a desperate effort to reach the eastern door of the capitol. He was discovered by a member of the capitol police—Mr. J. W. Westfall of New York—who on several occasions before as well as since, has given evidence of his faithfulness and efficiency. He seized the excited stranger, and, after a severe struggle, during which Major B. B. French, then commissioner of public buildings, at the suggestion of Westfall, caused the door to be closed and aid to be furnished, succeeded in forcing him back into the crowd. Booth had already been noticed by at least two persons who knew him, passing rapidly from the direction of the Senate chamber to the rotunda, and some idea of his determination to reach the inaugural platform may be formed from the fact that he broke away from the man who first seized him, Mr. Westfall, and, but for the closing of the door, would probably have accomplished his purpose whatever it was.

Those who stopped Booth on that day, and who in all probability preserved the President's life, were not aware who the excited stranger was but the importance of their action can hardly be overestimated. It will be remembered that at that time the great work of Lincoln's life had not been accomplished. The war was still going on. By this act of Mr. Westfall's, the President's life was probably spared for a time, at least, and he was permitted to see the dawn of peace. After the assassination of the President, and when it became known that Wilkes Booth's attempt to reach the inaugural platform had been thwarted by Westfall, the latter was promptly promoted to be a lieutenant of the capitol police force, a position which had been created for him by Hon. B. B. French, who was a devoted friend of Mr. Lincoln, as a mark of his appreciation of the great service which Mr. Westfall had rendered the country. This office he held until the meeting of the forty fourth Congress, since which time he has been discharged.

That Bunko Game.

We fear our friend Parkinson of the Carson Tribune, of whom we copied an item the other day, is exceedingly wroth. Hear what he says in Friday's paper:

The yarn published in the San Francisco Post, that the editor of the Tribune had been fleeced by bunko sharp in San Francisco, was gotten up by a chronic bum, who formerly occupied a menial position in the Carson Mint and left town between daylight and dark. He is one of those hangers on that to Carson people are the worst nuisances in the Bay City. He watches the publication of arrivals at the hotels, and when he sees the name of a Carsonite rushes forth with to the hotel and never leaves his prey until he makes a little stake out of him in the way of free lunch and whiskey. He can now be found in the Russ House building from the time the lightning train arrives in the forenoon until it departs at 4 p. m. He never refuses a drink, and is always ready to pilot the young men to places that are dark and show them tricks that are mean. Old kindnesses are not remembered by this Montgomery street bum. He has always a new joke to relate and the verbosity of his conversation always causes the loss of a coat button or a fifty-cent piece. Fatty Stewart has spotted his man, and he is determined to clear his now respectable saloon of the loafers that have heretofore crowded it, has given the gentleman (?) in question notice to make himself scarce. And this individual is the man the San Francisco Post refers to as "a responsible party." Suffice it to say, there was no truth in the report. The party who made the statement to the Post, for the consideration of a drink or two of whiskey and a few square meals, is a liar, and the reporter who took the gentleman's (?) word is an infernal fool, and should not be permitted to occupy a position on the local staff of a respectable newspaper. We trust that we have drawn such a pen portrait of the Bummar as that no old Carson landlord or business man will fail to recognize the picture.

Mr. Crooks calculated that the force exerted by the sun's light is equal to 32 grains on the square foot, or 67 tons on the square mile, or 3,000,000,000 tons on the whole earth, a repellant force which, but for the far more powerful attractive force of gravitation, would drive the earth off into space.

BRISTOW AT HOME.

The Kentucky Republican State Convention met at Louisville on the 18th. The platform reaffirmed the devotion of the Republicans of Kentucky to the principles of the party. The following section was read amid great applause:

As Kentucky gave Abraham Lincoln to his country, she now presents Benjamin H. Bristow to complete the correction of ills ever incident to war. His past conduct in office is the truest evidence of his future course. He has been true to Republic principles in war and peace; ever manly, calm, courageous and faithful in the discharge of his duty. His persistent and successful warfare against corruption deserve the thanks of all friends of honest government. In thus presenting and commending our fellow citizen to the Republican National Convention, we are not unmindful of the distinguished services and worth of other Republicans. We trust the Cincinnati Convention will present as candidates men whose allegiance to the party has been proved and who have the moral courage to enforce the law.

AN IRON-CLAD MONSTER. — The British Government is trying to out-do the world in naval architecture. A few years ago she built the "Warrior," a gigantic war steamer; since then she built the "Devastation," still larger and more powerful; and now she asks us to look at the "Inflexible," an iron clad steamer that has armor-plate twenty-four inches thick, and with an equipment of four eighty-one-ton guns. The cost of this "leviathan of the deep" exceeds $3,500,000.

The suit brought by Thurston, a gambler, against the Union Pacific Railroad Company for ejectment from the cars by the employees, on account of his known profession, went to the jury. They rendered a verdict of $1 47, the amount paid for a ticket, which had never been refunded to him. The result of this case, tried in the United States Court, is to the effect that railroad companies, for the protection of passengers, have the right to eject three-card-monte men from the train.

Owing to recent rains the Exhibition grounds are in a fearful condition and walking is almost impossible. The annual election of officers occurred Thursday. General Hawley was re-elected President and Campbell Secretary. W. W. McCoy of this State was elected one of the Vice Presidents. Mr. Nelson of Alabama, who is favorable to opening on Sunday, was defeated for a member of the Executive Committee.

An exchange says Mr. Spinner, late Secretary of the Treasury, registered his name at a hotel in Jacksonville, Fla., the other day, and the landlord soon told his guests that a "Chinaman had arrived." Old Mr. Spinner must write plainer; it did well enough to scratch hieroglyphics on a greenback, but it will not do for a hotel register.

They say that "Mr. Ray, of West Virginia, claims to have discovered a better motor than Keesley's." That he may have done, and have merely discovered a blind mule.

MONARCH MINE.—We interviewed

Dr. Bishop yesterday in regard to his new mine in the Pyramid Lake district. He informs us that when he was there on Thursday last they had excavated a hole in the ledge about 15 feet deep and 12 by 12 wide without finding a wall either way.

The extent of the ledge therefore is not known, but must be great. As the excavation advances the rock continues to improve. The prospecting mill recently shipped from here started to work last Thursday and has been running continuously ever since. But two stamps are in position now, which can reduce about three tons per day. The Dr. has had eighteen assays made of the crop-pings and float rock, which, while varying all the way from $6.28 to $10.00, give the good average of $8.45.

The four last assays made average $7.77—an average which will prove a bonanza indeed if it continues. The croppings are very prominent indeed, standing out in ridges 12 or 14 feet high. Though the assays have been made from all portions of the location they have never yet been unable to find a good prospect. The smallest assay, $6.28, was returned from some loose float rock which was taken from the surface. The ore taken from the croppings has never failed to yield a very satisfactory return.

It is as easily worked as the Virginia ore, and some of the assays think it even easier. All the actual work yet done on the Monarch in the way of mining has been the excavation of the chamber above referred to.

The first notice was tacked up on the 6th of March last, and now within less than two months and a half the mill is running. Very prompt indeed. Indications are that the Pyramid Lake mining district will be a very important one indeed. They do not wish to make any blow about it, but prefer to find what they have got and enjoy it. Success to the Monarch.

OBSERVATIONS.—The Carson Ty-dine man passed through this town the other day and while going through made a few observations. He thus notes them in his paper: We stopped by appointment at the Boca Brewery and made a thorough examination of that institution, and have made notes of what we saw, but space forbids a reference in this issue. A ride along the banks of that beautiful river by daylight is a rich treat. The bright blue water rolls, dashes and tumbles over the immense boulders, reminding one of the Niagara Falls, and so diversified is the scenery that even those who travel the road constantly find new beauties every day.

We made a short stay at Reno, and found all hands busy and numerous new buildings in course of erection.

The foundation of the Odd Fellows' Hall is being laid. Sunderland, the great boot and shoe man, will move into his handsome brickstore on Monday next. Gray &amp; Isaacs are doing an immense business and selling goods at San Francisco prices.

These young men have gained the respect of Reno population, and are growing daily in popularity among the ranchers of Washoe county. We learn that a brick store is to be erected next door to Sunderland's for the firm.

The country surrounding Reno is looking splendidly; thousands of acres of alfalfa made the prospect charming, the bright emerald color of the grass contrasting with the everlasting sagebrush.

Of the prison and other matters connected with Reno we shall endeavor to speak to-morrow.

Those little stakes, with the word "clear" painted on them that were stuck in the ground near each switch, mean that when cars are opposite them they will not be struck by other cars passing on the neighboring track. It saves the yard men considerable trouble, particularly when there is a large number of cars standing around.

Should Be Stopped.—We notice that several men and boys are in the habit of killing the fish which wanders into the ditches and flumes run-

Religious Services.

Divine services will be held in the M. E. Church to-day, at 11 A. M. and at 7 P. M., also Sabbath school at 2

At the Episcopal Church there will be divine service at 11 A. M. and 7 1/2 P.

M. to-day Rev. Mr. Lucas officiating.

Sunday school immediately after morning service. All are cordially invited to attend.

Rev. S. V. BLAKESLEY will preach at the Congregational Church, at 11 o'clock this morning, and in the evening at 7 1/2 o'clock. The Sunday School meets immediately after morning service. All are cordially invited to attend.

BAPTIST services will be held at the Baptist Church this Sabbath morning and evening at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M., Rev. C. L. Fisher pastor.

Rev. Wm. Hildreth, D. D., of San Jose, will preach in the morning, and the Pastor will give his second lecture to the young men of Reno in the evening. Subject, "Youth, its advantage and disadvantage." Sunday school after morning services.

An invitation is extended to all.

The fearful condition of Virginia street should have such an influence upon the Road Commissioner that he should hasten to clear the way.

Where is that water cart? The streets need sprinkling badly. Come, Stanaway, trot out your circus wagon and wet them down.

Excavating for the Odd Fellows' Hall and Burke's new building goes bravely on.

GOOSEBERRIES made their first appearance in our market yesterday.

Eighty-two bars of bonanza went West last night.

New York City has a marble elephant in its unfinished County Court House, which disfigures the Park, in the rear of the new post-office. This building was begun when the "Tweed Ring" had possession of the city and its cost is over fourteen million dollars, yet competent builders estimate that it could have been built for about two million. This building has just been roofed over, and it now found that the rooms are dark and poorly ventilated. Tweed should be
